NORTH AMERICA

Step into the future of technical textiles and nonwovens at Techtexsil North America 2024, where textile professionals from across the nation unite for business networking and industry development. Nestled in the heart of North Carolina, Raleigh is a city steeped in historical significance and one of the prime hubs for the textile industry.

Experience the power of connection, innovation, and growth at this one-of-a-kind trade show!

“We’ve been able to see and meet a lot of people that we hadn’t been able to catch up with or wouldn’t have known about had we not been here in Raleigh. We didn’t know who we needed to see until we saw them!”

—Ernest Sumner, A.B. Carter

Connect with Decision Makers

I saw firsthand several instances of unintended connections and serendipitous introductions between people - all of which led to unforeseen opportunities. There is no substitute for being there. Thanks to Techtexil North America for leading the way back to personal interactions and real networking.

—Keith Hoover, President, Black Swan Textiles
